

Getting Started

To create a new database layout, click the "New File" button.

You will now be asked what kind of database you will create, either a local SQLite or a remote MySQL. Fill in the information and click the "Create New File" button

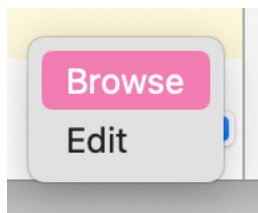

You will now be in Edit mode and can layout your interface

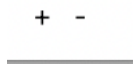

Double-click the interface element from the right-hand side to add the element to your interface.

Once your interface is laid out, you now can switch to Browse mode to start adding information to your database.

Once you are in Browse mode, you need to add a record to the database, so click on the + button.

Now you can add information to be stored in your database.
